yvanille 12:53 AM
Omggg it's so pretty :0 I'll check it out and get back to you soon!

yvanille 1:19 AM
Heyy, so things I really like about it:

It's easy to follow, no complicated instructions are needed.
The aesthetic is cute (the whole idea of a garden of possibility is really motivating).
Visualization is smart. Having users hold to manifest is good because it's unique and you get to see your plant grow (alongside your results + beliefs) so you'll keep coming back.

Things to think about:

Although I like the wording of the affirmations there's a possibility it might be too complex for some people. In my own experience, I find affs that match the way I think naturally work best for me. But also not everyone thinks the same and some people don't have an inner monologue at all, it's just something to think about.
This is just a suggestion but adding other features as well would be pretty cool (ex. Vision boards, games, etc.)

Overall it's pretty good though. Your biggest strength is hands on work. Similar psychology to game apps or duolingo (seeing something improve). Good jobb : D (edited)